

AUGUST 2019

OUR INDUSTRY

NEW ENERGY LABELS AS OF 1ST APRIL 2020

New energy efficiency requirements for air conditioners have been published, including a major format change to the Energy Rating Label. Under the Greenhouse and Energy Minimum Standards Act 2012, the new Zoned Energy Rating Label (ZERL) will be mandatory on new air conditioners from 1 April 2020.

The ZERL includes more detailed information than the previous energy rating label, so the GEMS Regulator will be running a series of free information sessions around Australia in August and September to educate retailers and installers on the new label.

If you install an air conditioner or assist people to choose a new air conditioner for system for their climate, and help your customers save money on running costs. The sessions will also prepare you for answering questions about expected energy use of air conditioners or where someone has seen the ZERL in stores.

Sessions can be booked on Event Brite:
